

How Corporate Traveller can help "free up" your travel programme

Don't be fooled by the label, a managed travel programme can actually give your business a lot of flexibility and independence. In fact, it allows you to have more freedom by taking all the hassle of travel organisation off your shoulders and leaving it to the pros. It also allows you to balance the particular needs and quirks of your corporate travellers.

Freedom of accessibility

Our OBT places the power to manage your business travel at your fingertips, allowing you to organise your travel on the go, whenever you want, wherever you are.

Freedom of choice

Our all-in-one booking platform gives you access to our global network of rates on hotel, car and air options.

Freedom to customise

We will study and understand the unique qualities that make up your company, its employees, and how they usually travel to come up with a travel policy that suits your needs.

Freedom to rebook

Cancelling and refunding your business trip shouldn't add to the stress of travelling. By offering your travellers flexible options, you can ensure your budgeted travel expenses won't go to waste.

Contact us today for a FREE assessment on how you can free up your travel programme with Corporate Traveller.